

AQUATIC ACCESS INC.

Is Aquatic Access going to the dogs?

Yes! And the dogs are loving it!

The innovative Aquatic Access Dog Lift is built by dog lovers for dog lovers and it is obvious in the design. Constructed of top quality stainless steel and plastic, the custom-designed lift is affectionately called, “the puppy lift” in the Aquatic Access factory. With end gates in place, the puppy lift platform provides a safe and easy transfer into and out of the water for canine aquatic therapy. The lift platform is strategically sized, and is fitted with removable end gates to give the animal a sense of security without an excessive feeling of restraint. This makes the transfer stress-free for the dog, thus maintaining the easy, relaxed environment so essential for a successful therapy session. When the end gates are removed, the lift’s carrier becomes a comfortable working platform. The animal is properly positioned to enable the manipulation and massage of limbs and joints by the therapist. Attached to our pool lift Model IGRC, the puppy lift gives the animal therapist complete control over the therapeutic environment to the benefit of the patients.

Canine aquatic therapy improves mobility and aids recovery from orthopedic injury. Now dogs can benefit from a rehab technique that humans have been enjoying for years.
